DANIELSON

A petition addressed to the warden and court of burgesses esks that a speial borough meeting be called to see what action voters will take relative to making an appropriation for the observance of Arminicte day. As the legal notice could not be inserted in time to give a five days' notice prior to the meeting the meeting cannot now be held until a few days after the observance, which comes on Thursday of this week, but the feeling about the borough seems to be that favorable action on the request for an appropriation may be looked for when the meeting is held, so that plans for the obervance may go forward accordingly.

Funeral services for Mrs. Resanna Rendeau, who died at St. Vincent's hospital in Worcester, were held Saturday morning at her home in Wauregan with a high mass of requiem at Sacred Heart church, Rev. Checking up losses sustained by the series of burgiarious raids on closed summer places of wealthy residents of Pomfret and Woodstock continued Saturday to occupy the attention of members of the interested families or their representatives and members of the state police.

While the total of the losses and the exact nature of them may not be definitely known for monts, as some of the persons who have suffered losses are now abroad for the winter, it is hoped within a few days to get quite an accurate list of the property that has been carried away. ried away.

There seems to be a quite definitely established epinion that the robberies are the work of professional thieves who have come into the territory with automobiles and carried their loot away. The police have a practically complete list of the losses from the Arthur S. Hardy residence in the town of Woodstock. The list shows that among the things taken were 9 square piate dellies, 11 small drawn work doiles, drawn work table cloth, a dozon embroidered French and will be given their positions in table cloth, a dozen embroidered French dollies, clock in green leather case, shoes,
